

REFUSES TO PAY HIS 1921 TAXES

Former Tax Collector Harry Bumbaugh May Resort to Property Levy.

WAS EJECTED FROM HOUSE

George W. Wheeler May be Arrested For Pushing Bumbaugh Out of His House, Amount Involved is $16.70.

Property levy may be resorted to in an effort to force George W. Wheeler, colored, residing in the third ward, to pay $16.70 in taxes of 1921, which Harry Bumbaugh, former tax collector or avers Wheeler owes. In addition, Wheeler may be arrested on a charge of assault and battery, preferred against him by Collector Bumbaugh, the result of the latter's attempt Tuesday to present the tax bill to Wheeler and being ejected from his home on Breckenridge street.

The taxes, which Bumbaugh alleges Wheeler owes, include all the borough and county levies for the year 1921. The total bill is $16.70, but Wheeler has continually refused to meet payment, according to Bumbaugh. Wheeler claims that he has already paid the taxes, according to Bumbaugh, who strenuously declares that he is mistaken.

Deciding to make a final attempt to collect the alleged taxes, Bumbaugh presented himself to the Wheeler home on Breckenridge street, Tuesday. Wheeler appeared in answer to Bumbaugh's summons and the former collector stated his mission.

Ejected From House.

Bumbaugh was standing in the doorway talking to Wheeler, and explaining the necessity of paying the levy promptly when the latter grabbed him by the coat collar and pushed him out of the house, according to Bumbaugh's account of the affair. The former collector made no resistance, he says, and left. During the afternoon, however, Bumbaugh had a warrant sworn out charging Wheeler, it is said, with assault and battery. This morning, the warrant had not been served and Justice J. L. Hill would not comment upon the specific charge to be laid against Wheeler. Wheeler, however, cannot be arrested for non-payment of his taxes, according to Collector Bumbaugh, because he owns property which can be levied against in case of failure to meet the obligation.

Wheeler, it is claimed by former collector Bumbaugh, has already paid a part of his 1922 taxes, but steadfastly refuses to pay last year's levy which was due in September, 1921. Bumbaugh has already returned his tax duplicate to the county treasurer and is settling up a few accounts which still remain unpaid.

FIRST REPORT OUT ON APPLE CROP.

Secretary Rasmussen Shows Conditions of Various Varieties on September 1.

For the first time in the history of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, a special report on the condition of the apple crop of the state, based on the varieties of apples, has been secured. The report has been presented to Secretary of Agriculture Fred Rasmussen by L. H. Wible, statistician for the department.

The report shows the condition of the various varieties of apples on September 1. The figures indicate that the Stayman Winesap, one of the most popular varieties of apples, both with Pennsylvania growers and consumers, came through the frosts of last spring least well of any of the varieties, the condition of this variety on September 1 indicating a yield of 43 per cent of a normal crop.

The following table shows the percentage of each variety as compared with a normal crop:—

All varieties	5 per cent
Fall varieties	69 per cent
Winter varieties	57 per cent
Stayman Winesap	43 per cent
York Imperial	53 per cent
Baldwin	60 per cent
Northern Spy	55 per cent
Ben Davis	57 per cent
Jonathan	60 per cent
Grimes' Golden	70 per cent
Rome Beauty	52 per cent

The report covers thirty five counties of the state, in which Pennsylvania's Commercial and farm apple crop is largely raised. The condition of the apple crop, according to the last report of the Bureau of Statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture indicates a yield of 11,486,000 bushels as compared with 1,766,000 bushels last year. It is indicated that this year's crop will run considerably above the average crop for the past ten years, the average for that time being 7,911,000 bushels.

MILK PRICE STRONG

One Farm Product Has Maintained Higher Figures.

While many farm products have dropped to pre-war prices, milk is not one of these commodities. The price slumped slightly following the war, but a new high record has been made in this section. Lack of pastures and the resulting reduction in production is the direct cause of higher prices prevailing both for the producer and the consumer.

Dairymen are receiving 65 per cent more for their milk now than they were two months ago, according to a local dealer. The highest price being paid the producer in this section now is $2.65, a hundred pounds.

SOLDIERS BREAK CAMP

Pass Through Town For Carlisle Barracks After Encampment Here.

Khaki clad soldiers again marched through the streets of town this morning recalling the summers of 1917 and 1918. They were the fifty officers receiving training at the Carlisle barracks, and 100 men, who had been camping in Spangler's Woods, West Confederate avenue, since Monday evening. The soldiers broke camp, this morning, and were back on the road when they passed through town, most of them on foot. Included in their equipment was a radio receiving set which is set up whenever they pitch camp.

HENS LAY MORE EGGS

Continuation of the warm, dry weather is not without its effect on the production of eggs in this county which is reflected in the purchasing price. Local stores today were paying 46 cents a dozen for eggs, a drop of three cents since the beginning of the week. Warm weather is causing the hens to lay more eggs, dealers claim.

STATE FIREMEN PICK OFFICERS

Will Nominate Men Today For The Coming Year.

PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR

Reading Chosen as Site For Next Convention. Parade Tomorrow Will End Meet.

Witnessed by thousands of persons on the River and along the bank, an hour's program of fireworks closed the first day of the State Firemen's Convention at Harrisburg Tuesday.

The convention today will elect its officers. E. I. Koch and Joseph F. Morris, both of Reading, are the only candidates for president. Seven candidates for vice-president were nominated Tuesday. They are: Thomas J. Jamison, Norristown; Jacob E. Weaver, York; George Zimmer, Williamsport; J. J. Coughlin, Erie; George B. Ebner, Carnegie; C. A. Hoover, Bellewood, and Frank Loxterman, Pittsburgh.

Governor Sproul, in welcoming the firemen in the House auditorium, commended them for fearlessness in action and public spirited work. The real community center of many towns is the fire engine house, he said, where civic matters have been discussed and carried to success.

Mayor George A. Hoverter, Lieutenant-Governor Beidleman, Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, Philadelphia, and Richard P. Weglein, president of Philadelphia city council, were among the speakers at the opening session.

Next Convention at Reading

Reading was selected as next year's convention city. Williamsport, the only other contender, having withdrawn.

Tomorrow the annual parade will end the convention.

During the fireworks display, delegates and guests were entertained on the River with lunch and dancing as the guests of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Harrisburg. The Reist Kipona line ferries and houseboats were filled to capacity with the visiting men and women, reservations having been made since the beginning of the week.

In addition to the fireworks' program the Moose Band played near the foot of Locust street. The musicians were placed on one of the River boats fastened to the steps.

MRS. SAMUEL WOLF

Husband Met Tragic Death Near Here Last June.

Mrs. Mary Wolf, widow of Samuel Wolf, who was killed last June 2, when he fell from huckster wagon he was driving, died Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from a complication of diseases at her home in New Oxford. She was forty two years old. Mrs. Wolf has been ill for a long time. Her condition has been critical for the past week.

Her husband was found dead on the concrete bridge at Swift Run by a party of tourists. It was evident he had fallen from the huckster wagon. His skull was fractured. His tragic death, it is believed, hastened the death of his wife.

Mrs. Wolf was born in Oxford township and lived her entire life in that vicinity. Her maiden name was Miss Mary Sheely.

One daughter, Mabel, at home, survives, as well as her mother, Mrs. James Sheely, New Oxford, and two brothers, George Sheely, New Oxford, and Allen Sheely, Martinsburg, Virginia.

Funeral Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. W. M. Allison officiating. Interment at the New Oxford cemetery.

COUNTY WILL GET ITS SHARE OF TAX

Levy on Fire Insurance Premiums Will be Sent Each Municipality.

Auditor General S. S. Lewis today ordered disbursement of the amounts due cities, boroughs and townships in Pennsylvania as their share of the tax secured by the state from fire insurance premiums of companies chartered outside the Commonwealth.

Adams county's share is $558.05 and the auditor general's office has announced that instead of paying the lump sum to the county treasurer for distribution, a separate account will be opened with each city, borough and township for its share. By disbursing the insurance tax in this way, it is hoped by the State to secure quicker distribution of the funds due the various cities, boroughs and townships.

Of the $558.05 due Adams county from the insurance tax refund, Gettysburg will receive $422.20; Arendtsville, $3.27; Bendersville, $1.60; Biglerville, $7.69; Littlestown, $40.39; McSherrystown, $58.05; New Oxford, $15.85, and York Springs, $3.83.

The sum total due this county is divided according to the amount of fire insurance written in each borough and township. The payments are made from a special fund containing $700,000, collected by a two per cent tax on the premiums of fire insurance companies, chartered outside the state.

Distribution of the amounts due the various municipalities in this and other counties is made annually. Some of the towns place the fund on interest for the benefit of firemen's relief associations.

HE SIGNS HIS OWN NAME

Defender Replies to All Points in Assaults Statements. Is a Frequent Visitor to The Town.

There are some people in this world who take the greatest joy in feeling miserable, and nursing a grudge against the rest of the world. And when the grudge becomes so ingrown as to make the person feel full to overflowing with misery, he is quite apt to write a letter to a newspaper, with the request that they publish it. It may be that the purpose of the letter is to make the rest of the population see how miserable they ought to feel.

One of the joyous grouches above referred to, wrote a letter to the Times, and a great deal was said about the town of Gettysburg. The letter was so palpably the overflow from an overworked peeve, and contained so many libelous, obscene, and scurrilous statements, that it received scant consideration. Similar letters were no doubt sent to newspapers in surrounding towns, for they were published by a few of the papers, omitting however, many of the most objectional parts.

A Philadelphia newspaper, under date of Sunday, October 1, published a much amended form of the same epistle, which was written from Orontia, Penna., and was signed Adams County. The article was a boiled-down transcript of a letter published recently by three newspapers in this part of the state over the name of Rev. W. W. Whalen, Buchanan Valley. (Continued on Third Page)

St. Francis church was filled to capacity for the closing services. Among the out-of-town priests who participated in the services were the Rev. M. J. It turned turtle after climbing a steep embankment.

Mr. Flynn is a civil and mining engineer of Mt. Carmel, and with his companions who were all members of the county board of bridge inspectors, was making a tour of inspection. Flynn was a former Northumberland county surveyor. He suffered the loss of the greater portion of his lower lip, and had his right arm broken in two places. POSTPONE MEET AT GRAEFFENBURG

Date of Pennsylvania Lincoln Highway Association Advanced to October 15.

Owing to the inability of Melville H. James, of Harrisburg, because of injuries received in an automobile accident recently, to attend the meeting of the members of the Pennsylvania Lincoln Highway Association, scheduled to have been held at Graeffenburg Inn today, the date for the gathering has been advanced to October 15.

Mr. James, who is an extension worker for the State Highway Department, was recently appointed publicity director of the Pennsylvania Lincoln Highway Association, succeeding C. William Duncan, of Philadelphia.

The purpose of the Graeffenburg meeting is to arouse interest among the members of the association in an advertising campaign of the scenic beauties and the facilities found along the Lincoln Highway. Scenery nowhere in the Eastern United States can compare with that along the Lincoln Highway, claim persons who have travelled extensively.

Members of the Buffalo Hotelmen's Association, and a party from the Province of Ontario, are expected to attend the gathering at Graeffenburg Inn. The local government of the Province of Ontario has voted $200,000 for an advertising campaign of the natural beauties in that section of Canada. Much of that advertising will be placed in and around Gettysburg, since the province can be reached from here by motor in a day's drive, persons who have made the trip declare.

GIANTS PLAY 2D OF WORLD SERIES

Oppose Yankees at New York Polo Grounds Today.

BABE RUTH IN GAME

Maryland Governor Sends Bambino Engrossed Testimonial Just Before Game.

(By Associated Press)
Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 4.—The two New York ball clubs—the Giants and the Yankees—engaged today in their second family fight, for the honors of the World's series. Thirty five thousand spectators made up of local citizenry with hundreds from out of town, flocked to the Polo Grounds.

It was an ideal day for the game, a coppery sun glowed in a cloudless sky and there was a mid-summer warmth in the October air.

New York took the local World series calmly. A New York team was bound to win, anyhow, and there was no mad rush for the unreserved section in the upper grand stand. There was plenty of room for the early comers and there were seats to spare at noon.

All the players of the two teams reported to the field in good condition except McQuillan, the Giant's pitcher, who was slightly hurt by a batted ball in practice yesterday, and the "Stone Bruise Twins" Nehf and Bush, who have about recovered from similar ailments to their heels and were ready to oppose each other on the mound today. Babe Ruth said he would be in the game, his wrenched side giving him no further trouble.

An engrossed testimonial signed by Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, his brother, Paul, head of St. Mary's Industrial school, of Baltimore, and others, was presented to Babe Ruth before the game. Ruth went to school at St. Mary's. The presentation was made by a committee from Baltimore.

The probable line-up:

HARDING SENDS MESSAGE

Urges People of Nation to Economy And Thrift.

(By Associated Press)
New York, Oct. 4.—In a message to the American Bankers' Association in convention here, President Harding today urged that "its members must lead in recommending our people to change expenditures to waves of economy and thrift to the consideration of municipal and national problems in that conscience which builds the temple of confidence."

By a vote of nearly three to one the association adopted a resolution opposing the establishment of branch banks by state and national banks. Waldo Newcomer, president of the National exchange bank, of Baltimore, led the opposition.

STOCK REPORT

(By Associated Press)
New York, Oct. 4.—Bullish operations were aggressively conducted in the stock market throughout the morning, cable dispatches stating that an armistice virtually had been agreed upon between the allied generals and the Turkish commander in the Near East, contributing to the more cheerful sentiment. Trading was largely of a professional character, but the volume of business indicated the appearance of an investment demand on the part of small interests. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

U. S. HAS COME TO PARTING OF WAYS

Must Decide Between Co-Operation With Old World, And Standing Aside.

ENTERING NEW CYCLE

"Clearing Skies And Fair Weather" For Business Are Ahead, Says American Banker.

New York, Oct. 4.—America has come to the parting of the ways and must decide now whether to "co-operate in the councils of the mother country and the Old World" or "stand aside and add to our national stock of gold," Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Company, declared in an address to the American Bankers' Association convention here Tuesday.

The United States, he declared, is entering a new business cycle with "clearing skies and fair weather." The nation has gained great power, he said, and "with it goes weighty responsibility." During the World War this responsibility was discharged "a thousand fold," but since the armistice there is doubt about it.

"Now we have, it would seem, come to the parting of the ways," he said. "Shall we meet the responsibility that has come to us with power, or shall we fail?"

Convention Opens

Lamont's speech was heard by a huge gathering of delegates representing the nation's banking machinery, assembled for the first session of the convention at which they plan to formulate policies on what action America should take with regard to forgiving Europe's debts, taking a hand in the European financial tangle, and other grave problems.

Points made by Lamont in his speech included:

1. America has passed through a cycle of flattening of prices "with business on its back" and now business "has bound up its bruise and is slowly moving on to a new goal."

2. Business still has some hurdles to jump, including low prices prevailing for farm products and "I never knew any country to go broke because of its abundant crops, so even though our farmers suffer disappointment, I think the low price hurdle is the easiest one to jump."

3. With regard to labor, employers have a responsibility to "study more fully than we do today the conditions of labor and be sure that, big and large, every competent worker has an interval in the drudgery of work for enjoyment of life."

4. Concerning the tariff bill, "we shall be fortunate indeed if we do not find that in practice it protects a lot of industries that do not require protection, and cuts off from our farmers and manufacturers a lot of foreign markets that are ready to buy our commodities."

5. Europe, although politically "in the doldrums or worse," economically is on the mend. The people of Europe are saving money.

The inter-Allied debt postponement, Lamont said, is of paramount importance. Europe owes America $10,150,154,196. The first half of this debt was contracted between the time the United States declared war and the time American soldiers first entered the trenches.

PRESIDENT BUYS OLD HOME

Harding May Return To Birthplace After Leaving White House.

Mt. Gilead, O., Oct. 4.—That President Harding expects to return to the scene of his birth and boyhood days on his retirement from the White House, became a possibility Tuesday when French Crow, postmaster at Marion, O., and personal friend of the President, acting in behalf of the Chief Executive, purchased the old Harding homestead in North Bloomfield township, Morrow county.

Crow was quoted as saying the President intends to restore the house in which he was born and where he lived with his father and mother, until he went to Marion to seek his fortune. The building for a number of years has been used as a storehouse.

The homestead, consisting of 266 acres, has been in possession of Harry Erickson, who resided on the farm.

FROM OX CART TO AIRPLANE

Reno Woman, 85, Says Airplane Best Of All.

Reno, Nev., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Fannie Hazlett, 85, who crossed the plains in an ox cart to Nevada in 1849, has realized her latest ambition by taking an airplane flight with Monte Monton, former mail flyer.

"It was a delightful experience," she said today, "and I want to fly over the Sierra Nevada next."

Mrs. Hazlett, known in Reno as "Grandma," has ridden in every conveyance from a prairie schooner to an ocean steamer. "An airplane," she said, "is the easiest and most pleasant of them all."

FEALTY OATH IN PARLIAMENT

Passed by Large Majority. Carries Pledge to Great Britain.

Dublin, Oct. 4.—The Parliament Tuesday passed by a large majority the clause of the new Irish Constitution containing the oath of allegiance. Moved By O'Higgins.

In moving the article of the treaty containing the form of the oath, Kevin O'Higgins, Minister of Home Affairs, said it was not a particularly pleasant task to recommend that particular article to the Irish Assembly, but as they believed the tampering with this and certain other articles would mean the throwing away of the harvest of the present struggle, they were not prepared to allow that harvest to rot in the field.

Mr. Higgins said that he could not admit the suggestions appearing in the press which stated that the oath was optional. He declared that such a position was opposed to common sense. No British or Irish signatory would admit that, the oath, which gave so much trouble and tension in the last stage of the negotiations, was not to be taken by all members of Parliament precedent to taking their seats in the Dail, he asserted.

Amendments Defeated

Gavan O'Duffy, former foreign minister, moved an amendment modifying the oath in such a manner, its sponsor claimed, as would not drive the anti-treaty partisans and laborites into direct action against the treaty. An amendment from the labor group sought to add a new paragraph in which the swearer would undertake to act in matters concerning the Free State, only on the advice of the executive. Both amendments were defeated.

Mr. O'Higgins, supporting the government's position pointed out that the Republicans who sat at Westminster, took a full oath of allegiance, as did Republicans in the parliament of South Africa and every other country.

Clause 17, which contained the oath, was then voted and agreed upon without division.

OPEN PARLEY WITH TURK AT MUDANIA

Allied Generals Hopeful of Dealing With Military Questions.

RETIREMENT VERY SLIGHT

Nationalists Backward Movement in Chanah Has Not Been of Great Extent.

Constantinople, Oct. 4.—The preliminary conference for the settlement of peace in the Near East began at Mudania Tuesday, with the Allied generals and Ismet Pasha, representing the Turkish Nationalists, present. The meeting was called to order at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but was shortly adjourned to Wednesday to permit the attendance of the Greek representatives.

General Mazarakis and Colonel Sarriyannis, who were Monday appointed by the Greek Cabinet to act in the Mudania conference in behalf of Greece, arrived at Mudania on a Greek destroyer this evening and will take their places at the conference table tomorrow.

London Gives Harington Free Hand

General Harington, commander-in-chief of the Allied forces, will deal with the military questions in the negotiations as he deems best, a free hand having been given him by his Government in these matters. Subjects of a political or economic nature will be referred to the Allied high commissioners, who will communicate with their Governments. The commissioners will be in continuous contact with Mudania by wireless.

The Allied Ministers in Constantinople are understood to have drawn the attention of the Greek Government to the necessity of keeping the Greek troops in Thrace under control, so as to avoid the possibility of a conflict. This was due to representations of the Angora Government that the Mohammedan population in Thrace were suffering exactions at the hands of the Greeks and the Greek troops are in a dangerous state of unrest.

Up to the present the Turks have made no real preparations for their withdrawal from the neutral zone, and according to an official report their slight retirement today was not of appreciable depth.

Thrace Most Serious Problem

One of the most serious problems at the armistice conference lies in what is considered as almost an impossibility, namely, that of evacuating the Greek army from Thrace in eight days, as provided in the Franklin-Bouillon stipulations. Another problem lies in the Greeks determination to hold the province at any sacrifice. It is understood that if the Greeks refuse to evacuate Thrace, Great Britain and the other Allies may threaten a naval blockade against Greece, as was done in 1916, when the Greeks were reluctant to join the Entente.

The Greeks insist on keeping Thrace to insure the safety of the Christian population, to protect Greece from aggression by the neighboring countries, to give her a voice in the control of the Sea of Marmora and the Dardanelles and access to the Black Sea, and to influence the care of half a million Greeks in Constantinople.

QUASH EDITOR'S CASE

(By Associated Press) New York, Oct. 4.—Wartime indictments charging Jeremiah A. O'Leary, former editor of "Bull," and a number of others with conspiracy to commit treason and conspiracy to obstruct recruiting were quashed by Federal Judge Foster on motion today by Assistant United States District Attorney Joyce.

Mr. Joyce said the dropping of the indictments was due to the fact that in a trial of O'Leary, a number of counts in the indictment were dismissed, and that on the remaining counts the jury disagreed.

MORE COAL BEING MINED

(By Associated Press) New York, Oct. 4.—Officials of the Lehigh Valley railroad announced today that more anthracite coal is being mined and transported this year than last. Mines along the Lehigh Valley road produced 47,577 tons yesterday, 12,439 tons more than the same day a year ago. There is no shortage of cars, officials said.

A number of growers favor the purchase of seed for delivery this fall rather than for next spring. All persons who are interested in the disease free seed question in the county are being urged to attend the meeting or let their requirements be known at the farm bureau office.

WOMAN APPOINTED FOR FIRST TIME

Senator Unlikely to Take Seat Before Her Successor is Elected.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 4.—Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Carversville, Ga., who was appointed by Gov. Thomas W. Hardwick Tuesday to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Thomas E. Watson until the people elect a successor in November will be the first woman to become a Senator.

Whether Mrs. Felton will actually have an opportunity to qualify and sit in the Senate is doubtful, for her successor will have been elected before the expected special session of Congress in November.

Widow of Congressman

Mrs. Felton is the widow of Dr. W. H. Felton, who served as a member of Congress for several terms. She has long been active in Georgia politics.

"The lady I have selected for the appointment," said a statement by the Governor announcing Mrs. Felton's selection, "is now and has been for many years the warm and loyal friend of the distinguished Georgian whom she temporarily succeeds in this high office. She is my own loyal, devoted and dearly-loved friend. She is splendidly fitted to adorn the highest public station in the land, for she wields the gifted pen of a cogent and forceful writer and has all the qualities of heart and head that equip one for broad and constructive statesmanship. She is wise, even beyond her years, and is glorious in the sunset of a splendid and useful life. She is known and loved throughout Georgia, the South and the country as Georgia's foremost woman citizen."

Replies to Governor

At her home in Carversville the new Senator-designate dictated a message to Governor Hardwick accepting the appointment "with mingled feelings of personal gratitude and profound admiration for your courage in thus placing so far as your office allows a woman in the ranks of the most exalted body in the known world."

"It's going to thrill the nation," Mrs. Felton added. She said it was "eminently fitting" that the position had first been tendered to Mrs. Watson.

DEALS IN WHEAT ON FRIEND'S TIP

Steel Magnate Tells Commission He Knows Nothing About Market.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The story of a series of speculative operations in wheat last winter and spring involving about 2,500,000 bushels was detailed to the Federal Trade Commission by J. Leonard Replogle, New York steel manufacturer, at the initial session yesterday of the commission's Senate-directed inquiry into grain price fluctuations.

Mr. Replogle agreed in response to questions put to him by Chairman Murdock, that his operations resulted in a preliminary profit of more than $100,000 and in a later loss of about the same amount. He conceded that purchases of millions of bushels of wheat might have a speculative effect on prices, driving them up and down, but said that the speculator could not alter market prices contrary to supply and demand "permanently or profitably."

Says He Was Ignorant

"In the first place I know about as much about wheat as a hog knows about Sunday," the steel man said in beginning the story of his Board of Trade experiences. "But last winter I was down at Palm Beach and I got a wire from a man I had met in French Lick telling me that wheat was a good buy. I asked some people I know who were down there and who know about wheat, F. G. Fraser of Bartlett, Fraser & Co., particularly, and they confirmed my original tip."

"The result was that I took on a line of about a million and a quarter bushels of May wheat at around $1.03 a bushel. I sold that out gradually in the next few months and was entirely out of it by April, getting about $1.13 or $1.14. Then I got in about the middle of May and finally sold out at considerable loss in June. Those are the only two transactions of any size."

CROWDS SURGING TOWARD YORK FAIR

Bookmakers at Racetrack Are Shut Down. Other Gambling Goes On.

York Fair was the attraction today for hundreds of persons from Gettysburg and Adams county and during the morning an almost continuous line of automobiles left town headed eastward with York as their objective. The morning train to York carried an extra day coach to accommodate the crowds of persons who boarded the train here and points west.

Hotels in York are filled to capacity, according to reports, and a number of persons, who came great distances Tuesday, were unable to secure lodging there and came on to Gettysburg.

Agitation against gambling in York bore fruit in no uncertain manner Tuesday. Soon after the races at the Fair started State police ordered the half dozen or more bookmakers operating in the paddock to close up their business and not attempt to conduct any betting on the races during the remaining days of the fair. This is the first time the bookmakers have been molested in the history of the fair.

Betting on the races was not the only form of gambling on the fair grounds, if the ruling by the district attorney in relation to games of chance at carnivals conducted in the city and adjacent boroughs during the summer, apply to the York County Fair, for there are any number of games of chance on the grounds.

Merchandise wheels, of the same character as those operated several months ago by the American Legion, Liberty Fire company of North York and the West York carnival, the latter ordered closed and the others warned that it was against the law by District Attorney W. W. Van Baman, were running full blast on the grounds. Between 50 and 75 wheels giving highly colored blankets, candy, dolls, and lamps, to lucky chance taker, lined the several avenues of the midway, no attempt being made to interfere with their operation.

POLICE ARREST FOUR MEN

Blue Ridge Summit Men in Accident Near Bridgeport.

Following an accident on the Cavetown Pike, near Bridgeport, Sunday evening, in which seven persons narrowly escaped injury, four men who gave their addresses as Blue Ridge Summit, were arrested by police of Hagerstown. They later gave their names as James Flohr, Clarence Eyer, Morris Molesworth and Bruce S. Benschhoff.

All four men were alleged to have been under the influence of liquor at the time the accident occurred. Owing to the condition of the driver, it was said, the machine in which the men were riding collided with the automobile of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Price, of Cavetown.

Flohr, the owner of the first machine, was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He produced witnesses that he was not driving at the time of the accident, and was found not guilty.

The same charge was then placed against Eyer, who admitted driving. He was fined $109 and went to jail in default.

SCORES ATTACK ON GETTYSBURG

ley. An ex-soldier, who was stationed here for a time during the war, and who has been a frequent visitor to the town since then, took up his pen in defense of Gettysburg, and his letter appeared in the same paper Tuesday. The defense is reprinted here just as it appeared:

In Defense of Gettysburg

Some important individual signing himself "Adams County" has written a very "complimentary (?) article about Gettysburg. Brother, there's no need of hiding your name, and any one sincere in his writing will always sign his name to it.

I happened to be stationed in Gettysburg during the war for a time, and I assure you that the treatment accorded soldiers there was wonderful. During 1917, between the months of May and November, I cannot say that I knew of one soldier being given a "raw deal", and furthermore, between those months, not one soldier was arrested for one serious breach of the law.

Say, brother, you must have been one of the wisecracks who belonged to the Tank Corps. The people of Gettysburg are not fools, and from what I hear about the 1918 bunch that were camped there I cannot blame the people in general for not acting the same. When a regiment of soldiers leave a camp and school boys come to take their places it makes the people sit up and take notice.

As far as profiteering goes I never was "stuck" half as badly in Gettysburg as I was in towns surrounding it. Gettysburg is the most modern and up-to-date town in Adams county. Just to show you what I base my opinion on: During 1917 a company of soldiers were hiking in a small town about 10 miles from Gettysburg and some kind old gentleman stepped up to the C. O., and whispered in a very low whisper: "Mr. Captain, General Lee's forces have been reported around the vicinity."

And another thing, brother. What do you mean by "Pennsylvania Monument expression?" You've never seen a town in the U. S. A. with a more happy and flourishing look, and that look doesn't come from thoughts of money made by profiteering, either, but because the community on a whole is prospering through its labors, and they are glad to point back to 1917 and say, "There were a bunch of men who were men."

I say, buddy, you don't want a bonus for your service in Gettysburg do you? If I were in your shoes I'd be glad they didn't throw me out of town, which, I assure you, they would do if you ever let your identity become known.

Don't speak of mud either. You've never in your life seen so little mud in a town or the outskirts as you will in Gettysburg. Why I know of a young mother there who was always willing to please her little daughter, and when the little girl wanted to make mud pies the poor woman became exhausted in an attempt to find mud, but she finally landed in a mud-hole and to her surprise it was Orttanna.

Now, brother, go to Gettysburg next Farmers' day, and see what the farmers think of Gettysburg, and see if everybody there is like everybody else, and in case you don't change your mind, I'll lend you my specs, because you need them. You must be one of those individuals who cannot see any farther than your nose because there is a high wall of snobishness built all around your head. I've seen your article in another paper, I believe, and so now I'll look for it in a third.

Here's to Gettysburg; may she keep on prospering as she has done for the past years, and in spite of the handicaps which you name and which do not exist.

THE ROMANCER

By MOLLIE MATHER

(© 1922, by Western Newspaper Union.)

"There goes that woman again," Phoebe drew to the window, and the Merry Makers' club followed in a body. "Don't it beat all, the way the fellows go to see her? And she's not even good looking, in my opinion."

"What surprises me," Mrs. Tomkins remarked, "is the way folks will take to a stranger. Mrs. Lew Hampton has her out often in her car, and never any of us, Mrs. Tomkins' old neighbors, asked to ride."

Nettie Wells smiled. "We don't wear the stylish clothes this stranger does," she said significantly.

"Where did the girl come from?" Phoebe wanted to know, "and is her name Jewel Joyce, as they say? Sounds made up to me."

"Miss Joyce seems real agreeable," a small woman timidly suggested. The others laughed. "So the men folks think," they said.

The object of conversation passed on her way. Miss Jewel Joyce was always provokingly happy. Snubs annoyed her not, ill-natured coolness passed unnoticed. From an office stairway a young man sprang to walk at her side.

"I saw you from the office window," he said.

"I am on my way to meet the 6:30," Jewel told him, and smiled.

The young man's bright expression faded. "Say," he asked aggressively, "how often is that man coming out here, anyway?"

"As often as he can," Jewel replied; as an afterthought she added: "Which man?"

"You'd better ask," Nettie Wells' brother sarcastically replied; "folks here are betting on which fellow comes most."

Jewel Joyce stood still and stared at her informant.

"You mean to tell me," she indignantly cried, "that the people here are gossiping about me?"

"Gossiping?" Jim Wells laughed. "The men in the stores are guessing as to which of those two men from the city will be the winner, and the women say that neither of them is serious; and my sister thinks you want me. Gosh!" added Jim, "I wish you did."

Jewel glanced at the boyish face impatiently, then she laughed. "Oh, Mr. Wells," she said, please don't be foolish. So I have come to a town of romancers." Her pretty brows drew together in a frown. "Good-by," she dismissed her new admirer, abruptly.

The frown had disappeared when she returned from the station, a tall, pleasing man at her side. The men in the store windows gaped, and the little stranger returned their bows of greeting, flushing, remembering Jim's conversation.

"Queer one, that," a shrewd-looking character remarked; "saw her when I was in the city, and she was at a movie theater with a different man from them two what come out here—a thick-set, prosperous sort of looking man, and—" the speaker leaned close to his eager audience—"the man was holding her hand all through the play. She passed me going out, and smiled as cool as you please. Knew I'd seen her, too, all the time."

Lyn Wendell spoke up excitedly. "Young chap, wasn't he? Lightish hair, actorish looking?"

The first speaker regarded Lyn with interest. "What are you talking about? The man in the theater was middle aged maybe, dark hair, acted as though he owned the girl, engaged to her, you'd think—and them other two, coming out here all the time, both paying her steady attention, and knowing nothing. I'll be bound, about this bird in the theater."

Lyn Wendell shook his head. "Probably she's waiting to see which one is worth the most money. Our young Jim here ought to be warned. She might even marry Jim and spoil his career at the start. But what I was talking about was a fellow I saw this Jewel woman with in the city. Light haired, young. She was driving with him, and they stopped for gas at the place I did. 'How do you do?' she says to me. 'Mr. Wendell, this is Mr. Bruce'—Bruce was the name. 'Philip,' I heard her call him, and he said right out, 'Yes, dear.'"

Lyn Wendell, returning some days later from his farm, passed an automobile driven by the same light-haired chap he remembered having seen in the city. The Jewel woman was by his side.

"How do you do?" she again greeted the astonished Lyn; she stopped. "This is my husband, Mr. Bruce, Mr. Wendell. We are driving out to look over the field of my half-brother's new work. You have seen Mr. Johnson, my half-brother, here with me often. He is a civil engineer. The shorter man, whom you may also remember, is my husband's brother and Mr. Johnson's business associate."

Lyn, meeting the bride's twinkling eyes, grinned understandingly.

"Thanks," he said. "And now, all that they will want to know is—who did Dan see you with in the theater?"

The young Mr. Bruce smiled. "That must have been your dad, dear," he said.

"It was," agreed Jewel.

IF SIZE WERE DETERMINED BY NOISE

SAYS MANY OF US HAVE 10 SENSES

Girl Astrologer Names Five in Addition to Recognized Physical Ones.

New York, Oct. 4.—Miss Laurel Miller, secretary of the Astrological Society, comes forward with the assertion there are ten senses. Not all of us possess these full ten senses, according to Miss Miller, but many of us have at least eight or nine quite fully developed.

Here are ten senses specified by Miss Miller, the last five being new to most persons: 1, sight; 2, hearing; 3, touch; 4, taste; 5, smell; 6, perception or clairvoyance; 7, inner hearing or clairaudience; 8, acquisitiveness, the "key sense"; 9, inclination, the guiding sense; 10, sentience or intuition.

Miss Miller recently went to Washington, D. C., where, with the aid of a powerful telescope at the Naval Observatory, she tried to designate to astronomers the location of Tasmu and Elslar, two brand new planets she says she has discovered.

"Seeing, hearing, touching, tasting and smelling," says Miss Miller, "are only the outer physical senses. The other five are the inner senses."

"For instance, you class seeing as the first sense. Well and good, but we also perceive by an inward vision which is analogous to clairvoyance, or interior sight. Clairvoyance is seeing with the 'third' or inner eye, as on a motion picture screen, events to come or happen at a distance silently enacted."

"We also receive impressions by an inward, soundless hearing."

The third "extra sense" which springs from touch, Miss Miller puts down as acquisitiveness, which she says is an inward feeling of one's way into the heart of things—into the truth of any matter, and it is that sense upon which learning depends.

"Without it we would know nothing above the instinctive knowledge of the beasts," said Miss Miller. "It is the key sense, and on a lower plane corresponds to the sense of touch."

"Inclination is the third inner sense corresponding to taste. Our inclinations either guide or ruin us. We are inclined in a particular direction by an inward taste which governs our sense of selection, and corresponds on a lower plane to the taste of the tongue."

"Last and highest of the senses is sentience, which is the very doorway to intuition. Sentience is the sense of the senses. On the lower plane it manifests as smell, whose organ is the nose. But sentience is the universal consciousness. We all sense things—even certain plants will prove their possession of this faculty."

HUNT LIONS IN OHIO

Beasts Have Killed Live Stock While At Large.

Mt. Victory, Ohio, Oct. 4.—William Cooper, Kenton aviator, yesterday joined in the hunt with his airplane for two lions believed to have been roaming at large east of this village for more than a week.

He was to fly across Ewing Wood, where the beasts are believed to be surrounded, and from the air seek to discover the hiding place of the jungle monarchs, which have terrorized the community and are said to have killed a cow, a mule and a number of sheep.

At the same time, posses of country folk—reinforced by scores of experienced rifle shots from Columbus, Kenton, Lima and other nearby towns, were planning yesterday to make the most systematic hunt yet instituted since the lions were sighted last Wednesday.

Arrangements were being made to raise a reward of $1000 to be paid to the hunter who brings down a lion.

U. S. TO REMAIN OUT OF CONFLICT

Will Not be Drawn Into Near East War, Says Hughes.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The United States government has expressed the sentiment of the American people regarding the Near East situation and will continue to express it by appropriate action, but will not be drawn into a Near East war.

This is the clearly defined position of this government as set forth by Secretary of State Hughes in an exchange of cablegrams with Bishop James Cannon, who on reaching Paris from Constantinople cabled the State Department urging that the United States use force if need be to prevent the killing of Near East Christians.

Secretary Hughes' reply to Bishop Cannon contained a clear notice that the government will refuse to be embroiled in a European quarrel but will at the same time perform its humanitarian duty as always.

BY STANLEY

LONGEVITY?

Centenarian Has New Rules: 1—Smoke; 2—Drink; 3—Don't Wed.

"UNCLE PAT"

By NEA Service.

New Orleans, Oct. 4.—If you want to live to a ripe old age and be so spry that you can dance a hornpipe when you are a hundred years old, here's a simple recipe:

ONE: Never marry.

TWO: Use all the tobacco you want to.

THREE: Drink plenty of good corn whiskey.

The recipe is furnished by "Uncle Pat" McLaughlin, Confederate veteran of Beauvoir, Miss. He ought to know for he has tried the scheme, is 101 years old and says he can dance a hornpipe as skittish as he could when he was 18.

Of course in these arid days, it may be somewhat difficult to find "plenty of that good corn whiskey" but there are some rumors to the effect that it may be obtained, Andy Volstead to the contrary notwithstanding. But even Uncle Pat believes Andy is going to be responsible for his untimely demise. Listen to what he says:

"I've used liquor all my life and I'm afraid this prohibition amendment is going to cut my life short. The quality of the whiskey I am able to get is getting worse and worse."

"I would advise anyone against marrying if he wants to live long. When you have a wife on your hands, you are going to have to worry a lot. Worry is what makes you sick. And again some wives object to your smoking and chewing. I couldn't live without my tobacco. Of course everyone is going to have an affair of the heart sooner or later. But you can survive even the worse attacks if you are strong minded.

"I sparked a lady for about five years. I guess maybe in those young days I would have succumbed but I was always a little bit timid about speaking my own mind and anyhow something kept telling me I'd always be better off single."

"I can read almost as well as I could when I was a boy and I've never worn glasses. I can run 130 yards without getting tired and I've never used a cane."

"You know when I was a boy the women used to wear dresses that covered a large part of them. They were pretty attractive and tempting in those days when they didn't have to carry their blouses around in a vanity bag. Mighty hard to keep from getting tied up then—but now. Look at the short skirts, the hip sticks, the plucked eyebrows and the bobbed hair. I can't see how anyone would want to get married nowadays, to one of those kind of girls. Do they ever catch a husband, young man?"

Backache is usually kidney-ache and makes you dull, nervous and tired. Use Doan's Kidney Pills for weak kidneys—the remedy recommended by your friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor!

Edward Newman, 26 Franklin St., Gettysburg, says: "I surely can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. A number of years ago my kidneys were in poor shape. For a long time my back was in so weak and disordered a condition that I could hardly lift anything and when I bent those knife-like pains never failed to shoot across my kidneys. Mornings I felt lame in my joints and limbs and would be all tired out. My kidneys were too free in action and I was bothered during the night. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills in Doan's Directory and got a few boxes of them. They did away with all the backache and put my kidneys in the best of shape."

"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walking skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty-dollar gold piece. I was filled with gas and had severe pains in my right side. I could not think and had lost all ambition to do anything. Doctors' medicine did not touch me. My cousin advised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which snatched me from the grave. I have gained sixty pounds, eat like a hired man and am looking 'em over again." DROUGHT CLOSES COAL WASHERIES

Some Towns Have Left Only Few Hours Water Supply.

Pottsville, Oct. 4.—The Anchor Washery, operated by the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, in the Heckersville Valley, was compelled to close Monday because of the lack of water. The Forestville Washery has also been closed for the same reason. Those are only the first of the coal operations which will be shut down this week if rain does not come to the relief of the drought-stricken district.

Nearly every town in this end of the county has only a few hours' water supply, and if fire occurs the last available water will have to be used, leaving none for domestic purposes.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 4.—Allegheny County is in the grip of the worst drought in twenty-five years, according to Weather Bureau officials, who said there was no relief in sight. The county agriculture agent reports farmers in some localities are compelled to haul water more than ten miles for livestock and that Fall plowing and seeding is being delayed by dry soil.

MAN WOUNDED BY ARROW

Hit Above Heart by Steel-tipped Weapon.

New York, Oct. 4.—Abraham Seligman, owner of a furriers' shop, was struck down Tuesday afternoon by a steel-pointed, feather-tipped arrow such as is used in archery practice. The arrow struck Seligman in the side an inch above the heart, penetrating the flesh for one inch.

Seligman had been laying out some work on a table across one of the rear fifth floor windows. The upper sash of the window was open. The arrow came down obliquely through the opened sash.

Seligman pulled the arrow out of his side himself as soon as he realized what had struck him. He was attended by a surgeon from Flower Hospital and returned to his work.

The police of the East 35th street station came to the conclusion that the missile was sent by an archery enthusiast on a distant roof who had missed his target and was not in a position to see the mark his arrow had found.

Everybody Told Him There Wasn't A House in Town For Rent

And the man had just about decided he would have to forego the pleasure of making Gettysburg his home for a while. Then someone told him about the CLASSIFIED AD Columns in The Gettysburg Times. Now he is comfortably located in a house that suits him—and his wife, too. Since he moved here he has been using the CLASSIFIED Columns to sell some odds and ends, as he calls them, that he no longer needs about the house. He is convinced that everybody reads the ads.

TOPSY "JUST GREW"

But towns and cities don't become industrial and agricultural centers in that way.

For prosperity comes only through careful and conservative planning.

Foresight—and a broad vision—are necessary.

So, too, behind the local Bell service is an engineering staff whose function is planning for the future telephone needs of the community.

These engineers are just as much concerned about the present or prospective subscriber here as with anyone else in the United States. No problem is so small that it does not merit their attention and no difficulty has yet been too large for them to overcome.

For they are members of the Bell organization.

And all Bell people have a very real interest in the community.

Their ideal is to merit the approbation of their fellow citizens whom they serve.

They aim to give the best of service and to give it with courtesy for they know that courtesy pays.

WOMAN SLEUTH EXPLAINS PLAN FOR 'WORLD DIRECTORY OF CROOKS'

Miss Hellner-Nielsen (Right) With Mrs. Mary Hamilton, New York's First Policewoman.

By Dudley Siddall

New York, Oct. 4—Three Danes, one a young woman, have come to New York to tell the National Police Conference how the world can be shrunk into a smaller space for professional crooks. They are here at Police Commissioner Enright's special invitation to demonstrate a newly invented "long distance identification system," and to urge its international adoption.

"The greatest aid to police identification since the Bertillon system," says Mrs. Mary Hamilton, noted New York policewoman and student of finger-printing.

After eight years, Haken Jorgensen, assistant commissioner of the Copenhagen police, has perfected a method of translating the loops and whorls of finger-prints, as well as the facial and physical characteristics, into numerals.

How Method Works

You don't have to be an identification expert to see what that means. Suppose you were convicted of a crime. Your finger-prints and Bertillon measurements would be taken in the regulation way. Then, by the Jorgensen system, the results could be reduced to a series of about 20 numerals. You would be the only person in the world who would exactly match those figures; and, inversely, the figures would be the only ones which would exactly match you.

Your name and numbers could be listed in a crook's directory, copies of which could be kept in every police station on earth. No alias, no change in appearance, no passing of the years, would enable you to conceal your identity from any police department which found it necessary to check your finger-prints and measurements against your numerical rating, or vice versa. A telegram from the interested department would quickly bring your complete criminal record from a central bureau.

Tests Successful

Miss Ingeborn Charlotte Hellner-Nielsen is the young woman who made the journey across the Atlantic with Commissioner Jorgensen and Military Judge Erick Schaffer. Her work is to classify finger-prints and Bertillon measurements into the "long distance system." Both at the Hotel Pennsylvania, where the party is stopping, and at police headquarters Miss Hellner-Nielsen has successfully met every rigorous test that internationally celebrated identification experts could devise. It takes her but a few moments literally "to get a criminal's number."

"This is an auxiliary to the identification systems used by the police in various countries," said she. "It would not replace present methods, but supplement them and enlarge their uses. Every professional criminal in the world could be listed in a book no larger than a dictionary. And instead of making it necessary to mail actual finger-prints or wire long descriptions a few numerals would tell the whole story."
